CompanyMileage.com Announces the Launch of MileageTracker™, the First System for Tracking & Validating Employee Mileage Expenses.

Dallas, TX August 4th, 2008. Dallas startup, CompanyMileage.com announced today that it is launching the first web-based mileage tracking system for employee mileage reimbursement. The company's product, MileageTracker™ is a patent pending process that subscribing companies use to validate and log employee mileage. In conjunction with MileageTracker™, the company offers reimbursement and reporting services.

CompanyMileage.com President, Kevin Winters described the reasoning behind the new venture; "Our research showed that the current systems being used by most companies for reporting mileage are significantly inaccurate and often result in overages of reported mileage. With mileage reimbursement levels reaching nearly 60 cents per mile, the impact of inflated mileage amounts is seriously affecting companies' bottom lines." Winters 40, is a CPA and formally President and Founder of Richardson, TX based Payroll Associates Inc., which was purchased in 2005 by New Jersey based PayChoice.

The MileageTracker™ product works by allowing employees to schedule their appointments via the companymileage.com website. The mileage is then calculated and logged. Periodic reports are then sent to supervisors and human resources for approval and reimbursement. The company will target mid to large size companies with a high number of mobile employees.
